Meet the Musician - Megan Bee

Megan Bee is an award-winning singer-songwriter with a background in environmental education. She bases in the rolling hills of Athens, Ohio and draws influence from the collision of Appalachian folk and modern songwriting. Her most recent album Cottonwood has been called "as real as it gets" and was listed in the best of 2022 by Americana UK and No Depression Magazine. Her music is a blend of distinctly homespun vocals, yearning soulfulness, storytelling, and lyrics woven with nature-driven imagery and metaphor. Over the past decade she has released four albums of original work and tours relentlessly cross-country in her minivan. Between tours she works with a variety of writing workshops, library programs, artist in residency positions, and leads the writing retreat Words In The Hills.

Quotes

"A singularly, naturally beautiful album...Thinking of buying just one Americana album this year? This should be on your short list. At the top." - Americana UK

"Good imagery & metaphors married smartly to contemplative songs laid out in an inspired storytelling manner...Not a bad song here." Americana Highways

Meet the Presenter - Kent Miller

Kent has lived his life in Ohio and made his first bird list when he was four years old. In 2011 he officially began looking for butterflies, moths, dragonflies, amphibians, reptiles, moths, fish, and mammals almost as intently as birds. He teaches a marine biology course in the Florida Keys every summer and snorkeling may equal his passion for birding. He's been pastoring a local church for 34 years, married to Cindy for 39 years, dad of two, and papa of three.
